

THE CHELSEA SQUARE

Welcoming and Sending:
Hybrid Learning at General

The 200th Matriculation

A Legacy of Generosity:
Report of Gifts

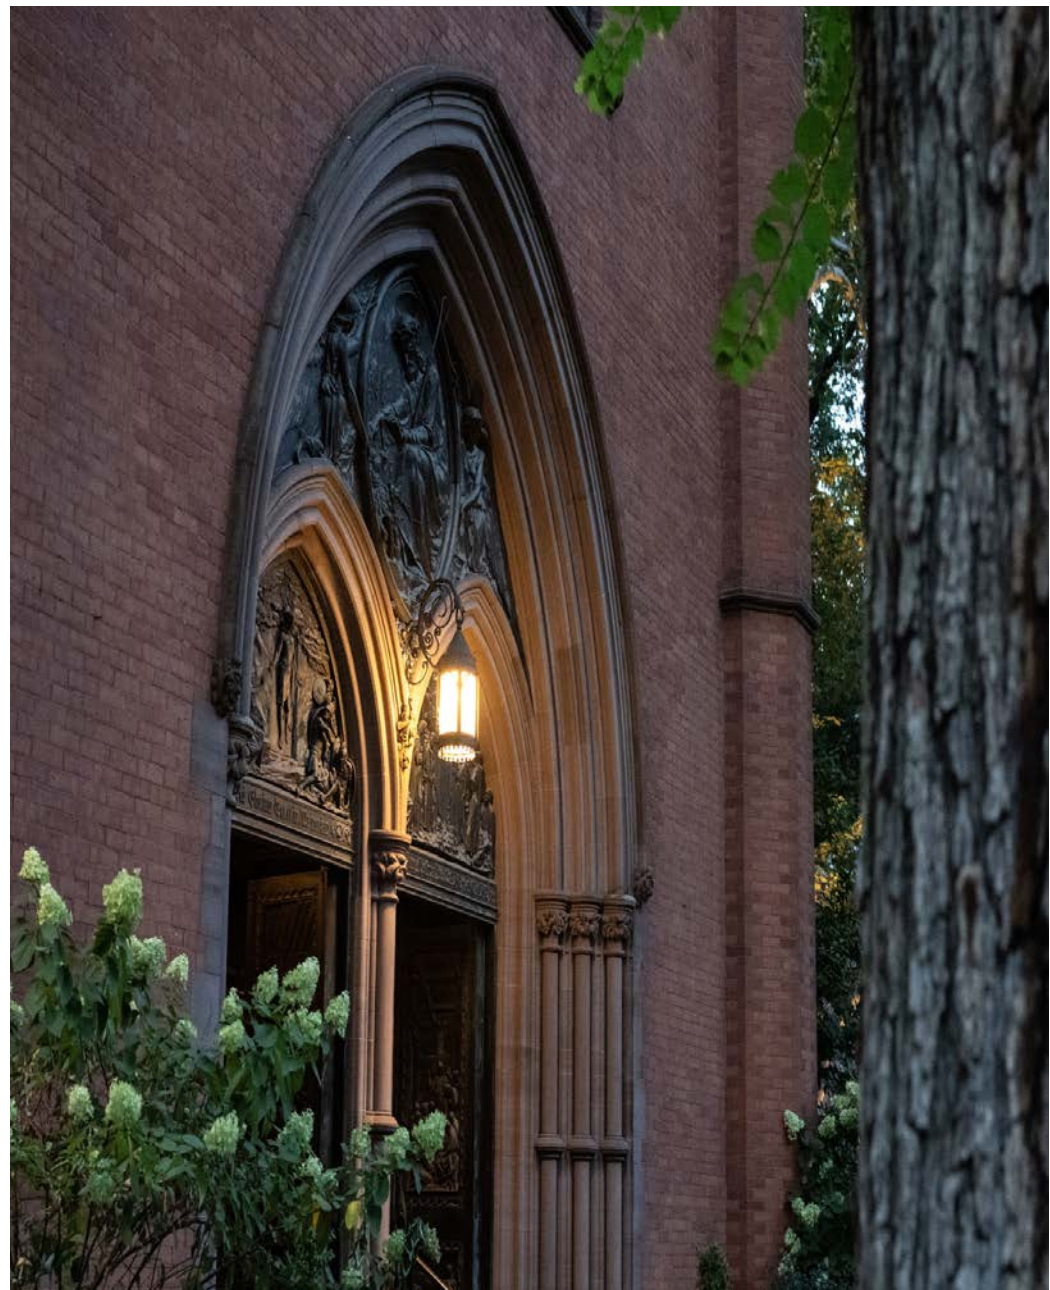

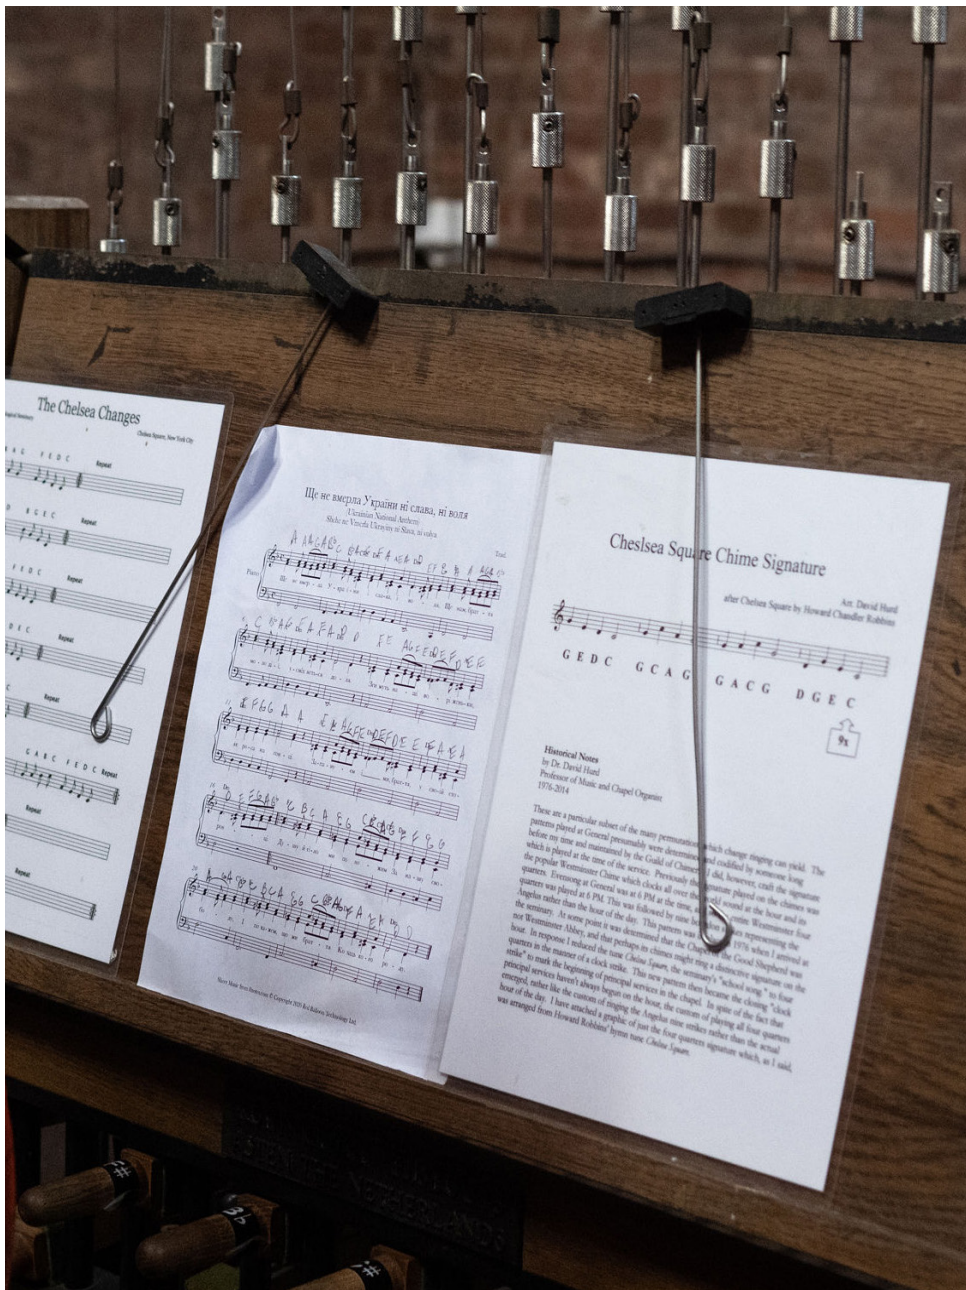

THE CHELSEA SQUARE is named for the historic and spiritual home of The General Theological Seminary.

For generations, these grounds in the heart of New York have gathered, inspired, and nurtured Christian leaders for lives of purpose and impact. These pages are an archive of the memories formed here, and our collective prayer for the Spirit present within our community to pour upon all places.

This September, Chelsea Square convened General's first hybrid Master of Divinity cohort for a week of learning, prayer, worship, and community.

Led by The Rev. Dr. April Stace, this intensive week was a confirmation of the distinct place General plays in the future of theological education. Being a 'seminary for a whole people of God' means that we design, develop and offer programs which meet the needs of the Church of today and tomorrow.

Dioceses represented in the Master of Divinity Cohort:

Alaska
Albany
Arizona
Atlanta
Connecticut
Florida
Maryland
Massachusetts
New York
Olympia
Pennsylvania
Southern Ohio
Upper Peninsula Michigan
Virginia
Washington
Western North Carolina

To matriculate into a school is to be claimed by that school as a child.

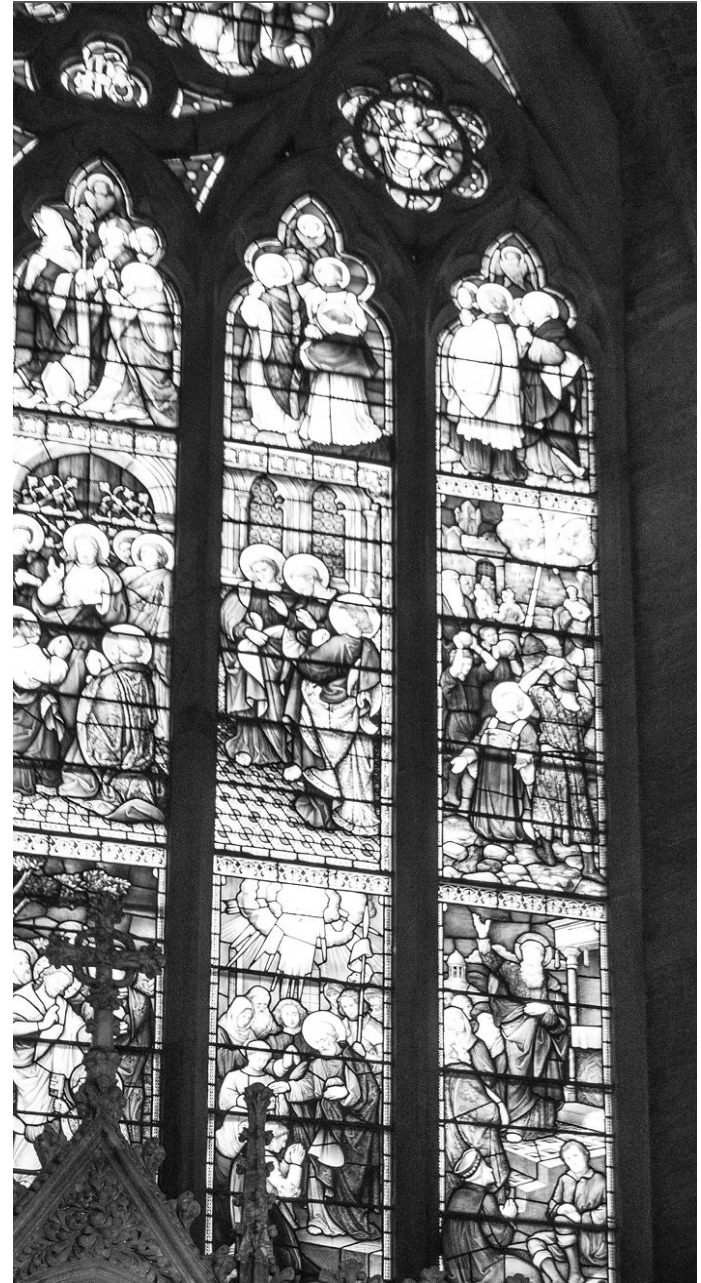

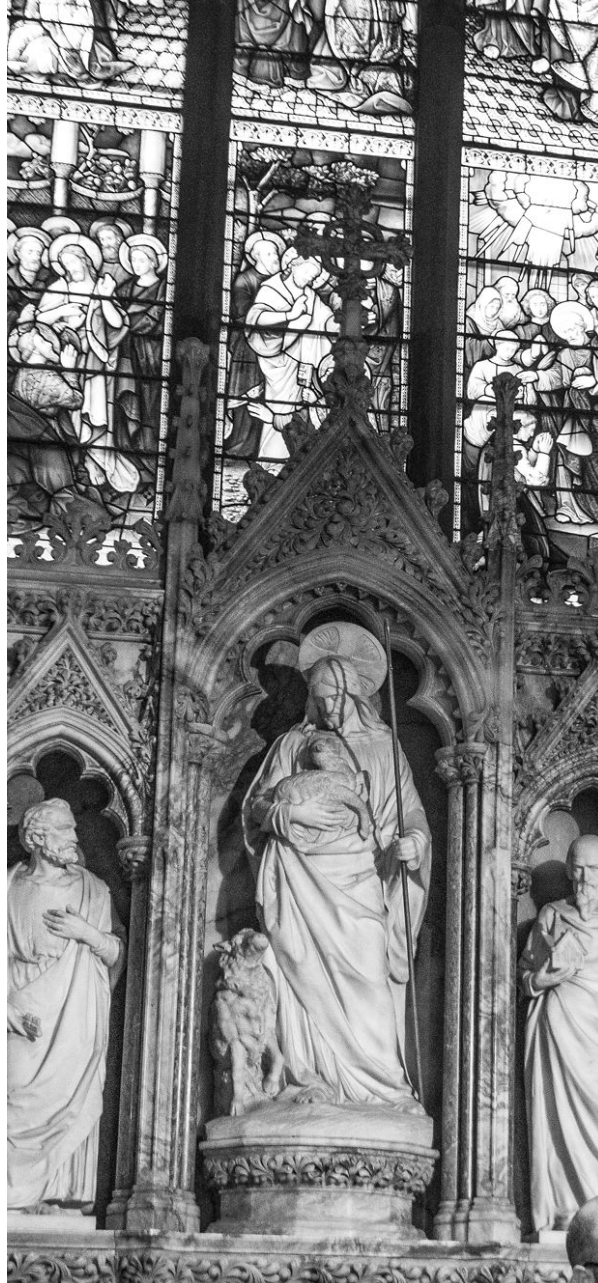

The word “matriculation” comes from the Latin “matrix” or “womb”. It is commonplace to refer to a school as our “alma mater”, which literally means “our nourishing mother”. When we matriculate, or when we call a school our “alma matter”, we signal our adoption into a new family.

Adoption is one of the primary theological metaphors used by the Church to interpret the work of God’s grace that is at play within the sacrament of baptism. In baptism, we respond to God’s offer of love and affirmation with promises. These promises, made on or own or on our behalf, are ways that we acknowledge that by being adopted into the family of God we commit to live a life that is shaped by the character of this new family.

The Very Reverend Michael W. DeLashmutt, PhD
Acting Dean and President

To our Matriculated students, we as a community commit to prayerfully support your journey in the years ahead. You are surrounded by committed faculty, committed staff, and the love and example of engaged alumni. Our family at General remains strong, because of the trust our students have in us, and the hope we have in future generations in following their call for lives of impact and purpose.

Dean Michael
August 30, 2022

Whether you are an alumni, friend, or neighbor, thank you for loving us, hearing us out, being our family. Thanks be to God.

Support General at gts.edu/giving.

The General Theological Seminary is most grateful to each one of our individual, parish, philanthropic, and corporate partners for their generosity in the 2021-2022 Academic Year.

This list has been constructed with great care, but should an error or omission be found, kindly contact the Development office at development@gts.edu.

With your help, our mission grows and thrives.
